PROVIDENCE.

Somewhere underneath the sky. While the summer winds pass by. Fed by sunshine, soil and rain, Springs and grows the ripening grain That with wheaten bread shall feed Thee and thine in time of need, While thou tollest heavy hearted, As if hope and thou were parted.

Some stout hand the furrows made, And the seed within them laid, And some watchful eye took care And some watchful eye took care
Leet from out the earth or air
Weed or winged or creeping creature
To the toil should bring defeature.
God and man the wheat have tended,
And from drought and deluge 'fended.

By some river, never still. Stands the dusty, hurrying mill That shall grind thy grain to flour, Waiting now the day and hour.
Somewhere ship and train are keeping
Room for it. While thou art sleeping
They may bring their freight a-nigh thee,
But thy own will not pass by thee.

Is it well to sigh and fret When God's workmen all arc set Each at his own task for thee And his messengers will be And his freet and free, transmitting Treasure for thy benefiting? Naught can hinder or evade him— Sun, earth, seas, he has to aid him. —Illustrated Christian Weekly.

Jenny Lind's Temper. A Boston woman, whose name is not printed, is reported to have taken singing lessons of Jenny Lind a good many years ago and to have found the Swedish nightingale a great scold. Her temper at this time was such that she would often fly into a great rage, and her husband would have to entice her out of the room to soothe her, after which she would come back with affability drawn over her wrath so oppressive in her courtesy that the student hardly dared to breathe for fear of starting her off

The American confessed that she spent more of her lesson hours crying than singing, and added: "Her reprimands were often personal. She would look at me and ejaculate, 'Oh, you look so ugly when you sing!' It was impossible to resist apologizing for one's appearance when she spoke like that, and that threw her into a new rage."—Mahogany Tree.

Drinking the Houlth.

Drinking one's health is the custom the world over, and the toasts of all nations are practically the same. The "a votre sante" of the Frenchman is the same to all intents and purposes as the "alla salute" of the Italian and the "Your good health" of the American. But in the which is eastern; "Here's how," which is western; "I look to des you, sir," which is southern, or "Here's my pious," meaning "my prous regards." Other Americansms are "Good luck," "I'm looking at you," "Here's your eye," "Till we meet again," "Happy days," 'May your shadow never grow less," etc. -New York Tribune.

Charges Against a Minister. "The bitterness of M. Tricoupis," M. Deschamps remarks, "his fatal ardor for work, his tragic and fatigued air, fill the Greeks with stupefaction. It seems to them his conception of life is strange, and that he must have learned those ways in morose latitudes where the sun never shines." When I was in Athens some years ago, the most serious charges RENO, NEVADA. against the prime minister I was able to seizo were the extensiveness of his collars and cuffs, which were found an English exaggeration; his bolt uprightness and his habit of speaking without gesticulating—a l'anglaise, the Greeks would bitterly add.—Westminster Review.

> Increasing Crub Membership. Members of a New York club are a little shocked at receiving from the club authorities a cucular asking everybody to do what he can to increase the club membership. This wholesale method of soliciting members is esteemed unwise, but it is a small matter compared with advertising for new members, a thing occasionally resorted to by the proprietary clubs of London. Such an advertisement now running in a London politico literary weekly is especially addressed to members of parliament. - New York Sun.

> A Boy's Clever Trick. A young boy in Ionia, Mich., wanted to attend the theater the other evening. but he did not have the necessary money He borrowed from one of his companions a telegraph messenger's book and told the door eeper that he had a mes sage for some one in the audience. After gaining adunttance he threw the book out of a window to the messenger and naturally enjoyed the performance.

The California Orange Crop. The crange market of southern California is in a peculiar condition. The largest crop on record is on the trees awaiting shipment, amounting probably to 6,500 carloads, against 2,800 last year and 4,600 for the previous season. Only a few hundred carloads have been shipped so far.

It has been reported that there is a combine among southern California orange growers to hold their crop for $3 a box. This is only true to a limited extent. There is no general combination among growers. Local unions have been formed in several localities to maintain prices and facilitate shipments, but these only represent a portion of the crop and do not work in unison. The most important of these unions is that of River- | lectly terrible rage. Go in and appeare side, which represents seven-eighths of the crop of that place, or about 1,700 boxes. The rest of the crop controlled by local organizations will probably bring up the aggregate so held to about 2,500 poxes, or less than half the total crop.

Buyers are holding off, being unwilling to consign while the eastern purchasers are not inclined to risk buying. The weather in the east has been very cold, and there is still a large quantity of good Florida fruit to be shipped;

Admission Tickets For the World's Fair.

For a week the bank note factories at Dalton, Mass., have been making peculiarly distinctive paper that is to be used for tickets of admission to the World's fair. The first order, which was for 5,000,000 tickets, has been shipped to New York so that the American Bank Note company and the ficket. It is exp salmon, the shades being plainly discernible through the thin paper on both sides. The planchets are not scattered all over the card, but simply in a row less than an inch wide across from top to bottom The tissue cut in these little disks is expensive, and considerable will be saved by using them only in the center of the ticket. The chief reason for placing them in this way is the increased

Would there not be somewhat of an outcry and would it not be suggested to the duke that, if he wished to engage in politics, it might be well if he were to confine himself to those of his own country? We have treaty rights which the Union could not ignore. The Canadians are showing themselves somewhat touchy on the subject of the fate of the islands. But it will perhaps be found on consideration that, if the United States is really anxious to set up a protectorate, the best use to which we can put our rights will be to swop them for a thorough settlement of the endless fishery difficulties.-London Saturday Re-

Crape on the Door For a Marriage. Charles Simons is a proprietor of a millinery store on Reed street, and his only daughter was his chief assistant until Fr. lay, when she married a man named Goldberg of Marion, Wis. The marriage so enraged Simons that he purchased a crape rosette, which he nailed to the door of his store, and announced to all comers that his daughter was dead. He is apparently beside himself with anger at the marriage. He threw his daughter's trunk and all her apparel into the street.—Milwankee Cor. Chicago In-

Where Amethysts Are Found. The shores of the picturesque basin of Minas, made famous by Longfellow's poem "Evangeline," furnish many fine specimens of the amethyst. After the frosts of winter have broken and scaled the face of the bluffs, then is the most favorable time to hunt not only for the amethyst, but for other minerals, such as chalcedony, agate, malachite, calcite, anolcine, apatite, natrolite, etc., found there in the debris at the foot of the cliffs.—Minerals.

The Railway Zone System.

Official figures just issued of the work ing of the "zone system" on the railways of Hungary show excellent results. The system was introduced some three years ago. The country is divided into circles or zones, within which stated fares are charged, the principle being that the greater the distance from the capital the ess the proportionate rate per mile travhence there is at present a sort of dead- eled. Cremated In a Running Train. A tale of horror comes from Russia. A train loaded with troops was speeding from Slatousk to Samara, when the forward car caught fire. The draft caused by the motion of the train was so great that in a few moments the whole train was in a blaze. The engineer did not notice the catastrophe and ran on for some time before he checked his engine. As many of them as could jumped out of the windows and doors, some of them landing uninjured in the snow and some of them suffering severe injuries in falling. The train was entirely consumed, and when the roll was called after the catastrophe it was found that 49 were dead and 20 badly burned and otherwise injured.—Paris Letter.

A Historic Tree.

There was recently destroyed in Deroit a tree made famous as the point where culminated the battle of Bloody Run, fought in the fall of 1763 between a big force of Indians under Pontiac and a handful of British soldiers. After a terrible battle the Britishers were wiped out, and the old tree bore the marks of countless bullets. Many years ago the old tree began to decay and was finally ent off 80 feet from the ground. The march of improvements made it neceseary to remove the body, and its owners and planned to send it to the World's fair, but the old relic was so rotten that t fell to pieces.—Exchange.

The Beauty Standard.

Herald

The standard of female loveliness varies greatly in different countries and with individual tastes. Some prefer the plump and buxom type; some admire the slender and sylph-like, and some the tall and queenly maiden. But among all people of the caucasian race, one point of beauty is always admired-a pure, clear and spotless complexion—whether the female be of the blonde, brunette, or hazel-eyed type This first great requisite of loveliness can be assured only by a pure state of the blood, active liver, good appetite and digestion, all of which can be secured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is guaranteed to accomplish all that is claimed for it, or money refunded.
